PICKPOCKETS TAKEN

Three Sent to Workhouse and Others Held for Trial-All Have Records.

Police activity in rounding up criminals is still going forward to the satisfaction missioner McKay. From reports made to him by Deputy Commis sioner George S. Dougherty, who has direct charge of the work, crooks whose faces are recorded in the rogues' gallery at Police Headquarters are fast leaving town.

None will get out, however, unless it can be shown that the applicant has passed the proba tionary period of reform. Commissione McKay has ordered a thorough investigation of each request.

Mr. McKay is considering a plan by which all members of the department may become acquainted with crocks. The abolition of the morning "lineup" at Headquarters of all crooks arrested the prerest thieves who have been jailed or beat their cases in the last two and a half years. Former Commissioner Walde abandoned the "lineup" because, he said, it was out of date and of no real use to the detective force. Now only the convicted are brought to Headquarters, and they usually pass in and out of the building almost unnoticed.

JACK ROSE QUITS FARMING.

Ex-Gambler Calls It Joke and Will Go on Lecture Tour.

SOUTH NORWALK, Conn., Jan. 8.—"It's all a joke, this talk about the merry life of a farmer," said Jack Rose of Westport to-day, when he announced that he had sold his farm which he has been working since he retired after the Rosen-thal trial in which he was an important witness in the conviction of Lieut. Charles Becker and the gunmen now under sen-tence to die in New York.

Rose's announcement was not unexpected, however, for not many here ever thought that the former gambler could stand such a change of life as farm work meant to him. Rose and his family are how registered at the Westport Hotel. We will spend the next few months on lecture tours and hores to sare enough time meant to him. Rose and his family are how registered at the Westport Hotel. We will spend the next few months on lecture tours and hopes to spare enough time also to write a book on the "underworld."

There is still another view held of his quitting the farm and that is Westports. She was found lying on the bed fully nearness to New York and his dangerous position in turning State's evidence. Some believe that Rose will leave the country.
